LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Engages learners emotionally and intellectually so that they want to learn
- Enables learners to learn faster and retain more of what they learn
- Accommodates different interests and learning styles
- Equips learners with relevant, applicable knowledge
- Develops problem-solving skills that are transferable to other situations
- Assists new employees to transition successfully into their roles

Employee development requires producing an effective, well-incentivized team. This requires the ability to inspire high-quality work, build an environment of trust and mutual respect, identify areas for improvement, and develop critical skills. Employee development can take on many dimensions, but central to every approach is the concept of employee ownership and development plans for continued improvement.
